Ireland and Africa have lots of links through travel, trade and aid. Irish Aid supports Africa Day celebrations which take place all over Ireland at the end of May, so people can learn about and enjoy some of the richness of Africa's many cultures through music, dance, art, crafts, stories, food and more. Children and their families are invited to attend these free events and take part in the fun. Listen to music, dance, join in games and activities and admire the gorgeous costumes from different countries.
